| Date | Location | Highlights |
|----------------------|---------------------------------|--|
| Jul 24 2016 (SUN) | JUNEAU, ALASKA | Accompanied by your new travel companions, the captain and crew welcome you aboard then set sail bound for Endicott Arm! |
| Jul 25 2016 (MON) | ENDICOTT ARM / FORDS TERROR | Snow covered mountains, glowing blues, and the white thunder of calving ice take your breath away at the face of Dawes Glacier. Navigate ice bergs by skiff for a one-in-a-lifetime glacier view. As you glide through Endicott Arm you'll likely find a few seals taking respite on the glaciers smaller "berg bits." Tides permitting, explore the narrow passage of Fords Terror. |
| Jul 26 2016 (TUE) | PORT HOUGHTON | Port Houghton is synonymous with the wildest Alaskan wilderness. As Muir did on his explorations in the late 1800s, feel the immensity of this cove's remoteness. Calm as glass water. Misty mountains. And while you won't likely come across other humans, you're sure to cross paths with blue heron, bald eagles, harbor seals, oystercatchers, or black bear. Hike along a lushly vegetated river, or if it's low-tide investigate tide pools. Navigating by your internal compass or with a guide, kayak and paddle board along the towering fjord or explore the wilds of a salt chuck. It doesn't get more remote than this! |
| Jul 27 2016 (WED) | THOMAS BAY | The Coast Mountain Range rises above Thomas Bay, sheltering the glacial landscapes of this remote wilderness. It's a magical place, and led by your expedition team you can test your paddling skills, or opt for some R & R and hot cocoa on a skiff tour of the fjord. Uncover myriad sea life on an intertidal shore walk, or hike inland learning about the rainforest that blankets Southeast Alaska. |
| Jul 28 2016 (THU) | CHATHAM STRAIT / KUIU ISLAND | The options are aplenty-it's Captain's Choice today. Stretching for 150 miles within the Tongass National Forest and chockfull of mysterious hidden coves, the narrow and deep passageway of Chatham Strait separates the Baranof Islands on the west with Kuiu to the east. Life teems below the surface and above--as you set out uncovering the gems of this untouched wilderness, take a tally of all that you spy by kayak, paddle board, or skiff. Enjoy a nightcap in the lounge with your fellow shipmates and trade stories of the many discoveries you made. |
| Jul 29 2016 (FRI) | GLACIER BAY NATIONAL PARK | It's a day John Muir would've delighted in, but the majesty of Glacier Bay National Park is all yours to relish in. Covered entirely by ice, as recently as 1795, discover the glaciological history of the park on a guided hike at Bartlett Cove. A National Park Ranger steps on board helping to spot colonies of guillemots, puffins, and cormorants on South Marble Island and | sharing Glacier Bay's history and greatness as you cruise deeper into the park. Explore Muir's legacy of glaciology in the perfect "classroom" -- at the tidal edges of the Grand Pacific and Margerie Glaciers. Dress warmly, and ward off the chill as you enjoy an up-close view of the towering blue ice faces.

Jul 30 2016
(SAT) ICY STRAIT

It's an action-packed final day! In some of the richest whale waters of Southeast Alaska, join the captain on the bridge or go on deck with your expedition team watching for the telltale blow of humpbacks. These nutrient-rich waters are also home to porpoise, sea lions, and other wildlife. Set your eyes on shore for possible bear sightings -- lumbering about for an afternoon nosh -- as you explore the remote coastline by skiff and kayak. Then take in the solitude with a relaxing soak in the upper deck hot tub or a tranquil view from the bow. Tonight, join the captain for a farewell toast during dinner. Afterwards, your expedition team provides an entertaining recap of your week's adventure.
